The Little Step-Son. BY MRS. A. B. WELBY.

I have a little step-son, the loveliest thing alive, A noble, sturdy boy is he, and yet he's only five; His smooth cheek hath a blooming glow, his eyes are black

Ar Postage must be paid.

And his lips are like two rose-buds, all tremulous and wet. His days pass off in sunshine, in laughter and in song, As careless as a summer till that sings itself along; For like a pretty fairy tale that's all too quickly told, Is the young life of a little one that's only five year's old. He's dieaming on his happy couch before the day grows dark, William Crowder He's up with morning's rosy roy, assinging with the lark; Where'er the flowers are freshest, where'er the grass is green, David II Colerick With light locks waving on the wind his fairy form is seen;

He warbles with the singing birds, and pratties to the flow- Thomas Dowling He cares not for the summer heat, he cares not for the cold-My sturdy little step -- on, that's only five years old. How touching 'tis to see him clasp his dimpled hands in

DEST. And raise his little rosy face, with reverential air ! How simple is his eloquence! how soft his accents fall When pleading with the King of kings to love and bless us Henry Duplee

And when from prayer he bounds away in innocence and The blassing of a smiling God goes with the sinless boy. A little lambkin of the flock, within the Savia's fold Is he, my lovely step-son, that's only five years old. I have not old you of our home, that in the summer hours, Henry Edwards
